Faulding® Immune Combat For the symptomatic relief of upper respiratory tract infections

About this product

Faulding® Immune Combat contains nutrients that play a vital role in many immune mechanisms in the body and support healthy immune function. Regular supplementation with Vitamin C may aid in decreasing the duration of colds and reducing the incidence of colds in people exposed to short-term physical stress. Faulding® Immune Combat also contains Echinacea, used traditionally in herbal medicine as supportive therapy for the common cold. The nutrients in this formula have antioxidant activity, which may therefore assist in protecting the body from the damaging effects of free radical damage.
